But it was okay for testing with FSX and FSX-SE, FSUIPC Version 4 938 is now available, and works as best as I can make it with FSX-SE.

I have seen 'the 'G3D crash' patch' do it's thing several times recently when I was flying around the EU with OrbX Global + Vector + Europe LC + Hybrid mode.. The installer copes with both ways FSX-SE installs (free-standing or alongside FSX Boxed), and all the hooks appear to work except for the full wind-smoothing fiddle (rarely used these days with such good weather programs), and the 'G3D crash' patch.. Again, thanks for the quick work on this in spite of your 'ill' machine and the coming holidays! Paul EDIT: I just had a look at my FSX FSUIPC4 log for this mornings 6-hour flight to Berlin and back from UKBA: It caught several G3D errors! Great news Pete! That is with a couple of reservations for my use.. This keeps us all in the same environment except, as I saw during todays mission', when we crossed into another 'wind layer' and 4 of the 5 of us got the correct, gradual shift but oone pilot who did not have his FSUIPC weather settings set correctly did NOT get the wind changes.. FSUIPC4 for FSX is just about EUR 4 more If you need to enter a key you start FS, bring up its menu bar, click on modules, click on FSUIPC and it will popup a tabbed dialog.

Also, I and others in the 91st Bombardment Group use those weather setting options in FSX during the missions that we fly because we can not tolerate 'different wind directions/speeds' betwen users and we can not dictate to our members that they buy a commercial weather engine and then be constantly 'chasing the upgrade path'! We have resorted to using weather themes, both the 'canned varity' and those that I create with the FS2004 Weather SDK.. I'm pleased to report that after a day of struggling (Friday) I got my development PC working well enough to do some work.

Feedback on any of the FSUIPC facilities would be useful, but I may not deal with it now for a week or two!;-) Oh, the latest version of MakeRunways, also available, also copes with FSX-SE's possibly different SCENERY.. So, bottom line, there are those of us who use those wind smoothing functions That said, if they continue to work for FSX but not FSX-SE, that would not be a problem as we will never bbe flying as a group on Steam.. Also, I and others in the 91st Bombardment Group use those weather setting options in FSX during the missions that we fly because we can not tolerate 'different wind directions/speeds' betwen users and we can not dictate to our members that they buy a commercial weather engine and then be constantly 'chasing the upgrade path'! A serial number can also be referred to as an Activation Code or CD Key When you search for Fsuipc4 Key Serial, you may sometimes find the word 'serial' in the results.. This keeps us all in the same environment except, as I saw during todays mission', when we crossed into another 'wind layer' and 4 of the 5 of us got the correct, gradual shift but oone pilot who did not have his FSUIPC weather settings set correctly did NOT get the wind changes.. We require the access to the Digital Theme Park servers vis the FSX 'Lan' connect option, which is missing in FSX-SE.. I just dare not switch it off or I think it won't come on again! It is crippled -- it won't run P3D because I had to substitute an older non-DX11 video card.
